QUAY LOSES HIS CASE.

Final Day's Debate Began in the Senate Tuesday—Large Number of Senators Were Present.

Washington, April 25.—The final day's debate on the case of Hon. M. S. Quay began in the senate Tuesday at 11 o'clock. Notwithstanding the comparatively early hour of meeting, a large number of senators were present. When the session opened and many people were in the galleries, consideration of the Quay case was then resumed. Mr. Penrose (Pa.) continued his argument, begun late Monday afternoon.

Mr. McCumber (N. D.) delivered a carefully prepared constitutional argument in opposition to the seating of Mr. Quay. Only a brief while ago he was regarded as an advocate of Mr. Quay's claim, but he announced in his speech that, after careful consideration, he had changed his opinion. This change, he said, was not based upon emotion, but upon reason.

A vote was taken promptly at 4 o'clock. The resolution declaring Quay not entitled to a seat was carried, 33 to 32.

HANNA DECLINES.

He Insists He Will Not Be a Delegate to the Philadelphia Convention.

RECEIVED AN OVATION AT COLUMBUS.

Temporary Chairman R. M. Nevin, of Dayton, Sounds the Keynote in the Ohio Campaign.

The Ticket Will Be Nominated Wednesday—Only Ballots Will Be For Alternates at Large and Food Commissioner.

Columbus, O., April 25.—The republican state convention met here at 4 p. m. Tuesday for the nomination of what is called the "alternate year" state ticket and the selection of delegates and alternates at large to the Philadelphia convention. Most of the leaders and delegates arrived during the night. Among the latest arrivals was Senator Hanna, who arrived at 7 Tuesday morning, and had quite an ovation at the Neil house. He insisted he would not be a delegate to the Philadelphia convention, and he is so determined in his declaration that his friends say he would not have been here but for the fact that he wanted to be present to see that some one else was selected instead of himself for that position.

The delegates met by counties for conference during the forenoon and by congressional districts in the afternoon. The members of the different committees met Tuesday night after the opening session of the convention at 4 p. m. The keynote address of Temporary Chairman R. M. Nevin, of Dayton, was the feature of the session Tuesday afternoon. As there were no contesting delegations, the committee on resolutions was about the only one that will have much to do Tuesday night, and it was in the nature of codifying and revising the planks as heretofore outlined in these dispatches. There are no differences of opinion on the issues and very few differences regarding the candidates.

While the proceedings Tuesday and Tuesday night did not differ from those of other conventions, the closing session Wednesday promises to be very short. The only ballots will be for alternates at large to Philadelphia and for food and dairy commissioner. For the latter place Jos. Blackburn is a candidate for his third successive nomination, and the name of ex-Senator Byron Lutz will be presented against him.

The convention was called to order at 4 p. m. and Hon. R. M. Nevin was selected as temporary chairman. Following is an abstract of his keynote address to the delegates:

We congratulate ourselves upon promises kept, platforms fulfilled and pledges redeemed. No party was ever richer in promises than the republican party, and no party was ever sadder in fulfillment. When we look back but four years ago and see the condition of our state, when Governor Cleveland was serving his last term, and compare it with today, we can scarcely believe that only four years have elapsed. At that time we were seeking bread and butter, and farmers were closed, farm produce was selling at the lowest prices, and the people of building and of commerce were wondering whence would come their daily bread.

We entered upon the campaign of education in 1896, trusting to the honor and integrity of the American people, and the question was asked us, whether we should pay our debts in the best way we could, or whether we should repudiate them in whole or in part by paying in a delayed currency, the republican party undoubtedly elected, and we went out into the world with a reputation that we would never be permitted by the people of this country. Our policy was not only wicked, but was triumphantly elected and every promise that had been made by the national convention in St. Louis has been through its administration, been loyally fulfilled.

After referring to the war with Spain and the treaty of Paris and the acquisition of the Philippines, he said concerning the latter:

We were compelled in order that there might be a prompt and efficient government of this country to put down the insurrection against our flag and to crush out rebellion against our government. We hold the islands not for the purpose of tyrannizing over them, but for the purpose of civilizing the people, not for the purpose of wringing from them revenue, but in order that we may train them in the right ideas of government, educate them as to what is necessary to the civilization and progress of a people, and to the happiness and prosperity of the people.

Referring to the Porto Rico tariff bill as said:

When that measure is carefully considered, considered in reference to the needs and wants of the people, it will be found that it is not only the best, but the most charitable that could be enacted. And that measure will bring to the people of Porto Rico in time education, happiness and prosperity.

I know there have been some differences of opinion in our own ranks as to the tariff part of this measure, some sentiment as to the constitution following the flag, but I believe that when the conditions and the wants and the needs of the people are considered, those differences will pass away. We must remember that on that little island there were almost a million people, 90 per cent of them illiterate, unable to read or write, and entirely unlearned in the ways of arts of government, and utterly ignorant of the rights of citizenship. It is expected by this measure that enough revenue will be secured to pay the expenses and the cost of education and bring the people up to our own standard of citizenship, and then we will incorporate them into our own union as full-grown citizens.

After referring to the property of the country, and the expansion of its trade he continued:

And why change this? And for what? Is there anything in the past of the democratic party that would warrant it being placed in power? Has it changed any since 1896? Does it not still, through its mouthpiece and its leader, insist upon the Chicago platform, which all its vagaries, all its demagogues, all its revolution, who would want to be a democrat? Who would want to belong to that party who finds its chief source of power and promise in the want of property and the lack of good times? Who wants to belong to a party that goes in partnership with the chinch bug and the locust, that wants to depend upon drought and failure of crops in order to win? Who wants to belong to a party, the members of which know that as the price of labor goes down, their hopes of success go up?

TO COURT OF APPEALS.

The Cases of the Republican Minor State Officials, With One Exception, Appealed to That Court.

Frankfort, Ky., April 25.—The indictment against ex-Congressman David G. Colson, for killing Luther H. Denmore, was dismissed in the circuit court on motion of the commonwealth's attorney. A statement in which he said the failure to secure a conviction for the killing of Scott Denmore is certain that an acquittal would result as to the killing of Denmore.

Ex-Gov. W. O. Bradley, representing the republican minor state officials, Tuesday prayed an appeal to the court of appeals from the judgment of ouster rendered by Circuit Judge Cantrill last week. The appeal was prayed as to all cases except that of Breckinridge against Mr. Pratt, the republican contestant for attorney general, did not ask an appeal.

SHOT BY MISTAKE.

A Minnesota Boy's Act in Killing His Mother Drove Him Mad—His Mind a Blank.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 25.—Mrs. L. A. Larson lies dead at her home in Crookston, and her 9-year-old son who killed her has become a maniac as a result of his deed. When Mr. Larson came in from a hunting trip he placed his loaded rifle in a corner of the sitting room. Mrs. Larson was getting dinner and did not see her son pick up the weapon. Suddenly the little fellow called out: "Look out, mamma, I'm going to shoot," and before Mrs. Larson could move she fell dead with a bullet in her head. Mr. Larson hearing the report rushed in, only to find his wife lifeless on the floor and his son standing near by, the rifle in his hands and his mind a blank.

The doctors hold out small hope of the child's recovering his mental balance.

Peculiar Manner of Death.

He fainted from loss of blood. With one hand he crawled to the burning end of the exploded cartridges in a belt about his waist. The body was found horribly mutilated.

No Truth in the Story.

BATTLE EXPECTED.

Developments of Importance Will Soon Occur in the Orange Free State.

BOERS CONFRONTING GEN. RUNDLE.

Gens. Brabant and Hart Are Pushing Along the Basutoland Frontier to Assist Him.

Gens. French and Pole-Carew Are Hastening From Bloemfontein to Bar the Boer Line of Retreat Northward.

London, April 25.—All attention is centered on the interesting, though complicated, situation in the southeastern portion of the Orange Free State, from which developments of the most importance must ensue in the near future. Gen. Rundle, it would seem has found the Boers confronting him at DeWetsdorp in stronger force than he cares to engage, and so he is marking time pending the arrival of supports. While Gen. Rundle is preparing to strike DeWetsdorp Gens. Brabant and Hart are pushing along the frontier at Basutoland, where they will be able to frustrate any attack on Gen. Rundle's right, and Gens. French and Pole-Carew are hastening from Bloemfontein to bar the Boer line of retreat northwards.

In the meanwhile the burghers forces occupying Taba N'Chu are in a position to fight a delaying action, giving the Boer forces at DeWetsdorp and Wepener time to retire in case of defeat, and it seems as though Gen. French must dispose of this Taba N'Chu force before he can reach the rear of the Boer forces opposing Gens. Rundle and Brabant, otherwise his flank will be open to assault.

The Boers driven out of Leeuwkop will probably rally at Taba N'Chu, where a stiff fight might be expected. Should the British fail in this attempt to bring about another Paardeberg, it must immensely affect the larger issues of the war, as it will undoubtedly lead to a persistent repetition of the guerrilla tactics which have been largely responsible for the penning up of Lord Roberts at Bloemfontein for so many weeks.

During the course of Gen. Alderson's advance on Leeuwkop, the Canadians found themselves in a tight corner Sunday near Donkerpoort. The Canadian mounted infantry sent to reconnoiter the Boer position, approached within 300 yards of a farm flying the hospital flag, under cover of which the Boers opened such a hot fire on the Canadians that they were unable to attempt to retire until another force of Canadians covered their retreat by threatening the rear of the Boer position.

Pretoria, Monday, April 23.—An official bulletin issued here to-day says: "The federals continue their fighting at Wepener and have captured a herd of Gen. Brabant's cattle and horses. Gen. Dewet's losses at DeWetsdorp were one man killed and six men wounded. The British appear to be retiring beyond DeWetsdorp. "Cronje reports that with a strong command he attacked British north-east of Boshof. A heavy engagement followed, and the English were driven from kopje to kopje. The federals displayed great courage and resolution, and spiritedly chased the enemy in the direction of Boshof. Only two burghers were wounded. The British lost 15 men killed and left three wounded and eight prisoners in the hands of the burghers."

The Cronje referred to is undoubtedly Commandant Cronje, the second son of the famous Boer general, now a prisoner on the island of St. Helena.

OHIO STATE NEWS.

THE PRESIDENT AT CANTON.

In Deference to His Wishes No Public Demonstration Was Arranged, as is Generally the Case.

Canton, O., April 25.—President and Mrs. McKinley and party arrived in the city at 10:10 o'clock Tuesday morning, the Pullman cars Olympia and Mercutio being attached to the regular Pennsylvania train for their accommodation.

In deference to the announcement of the president's friends that he came here for rest from public cares and to look after private affairs, no public demonstration was arranged, as is generally the case when the president comes to his home. But, in spite of this, there was a large crowd of friends and fellow citizens at the station when the train rolled in and a mighty volume of cheers went up as the president and Mrs. McKinley stepped from the train.

An informal reception committee was also at the station to bid welcome to the distinguished arrivals, composed of representative, professional and business men and the heads of various organizations who had driven to the station in carriages.

Attempts Murder and Suicide.

Youngstown, O., April 25.—Mrs. Lucy Christy shot her husband, Robert Christy, a roller at the Union Iron and steel mill, and then shot herself in the head, dying instantly. But the senator up to this hour refuses to take any action or define his position.

Judge Dellenbaugh Still Disbarred.

Columbus, O., April 25.—The supreme court Tuesday affirmed the decision of the lower courts in the case of Judge Frank Dellenbaugh, of Cleveland, and he stands disbarred from the courts of Ohio. END OF THE CARTER CASE.

The Supreme Court Decides That the Court-Martial Sentence Must Be Complied With.

Washington, April 25.—In the supreme court Chief Justice Fuller handed down the opinion of the court in the case of Capt. O'Brien M. Carter dismissing his appeal from the decision of the circuit court for the southern district of New York. The chief justice held that no appeal could be entertained by this court, the appellant having exercised his remedy of an appeal to the circuit court of appeals.

The effect of the decision is to leave in force the decision of the circuit court refusing to interfere in the sentence of the court-martial which sentenced Carter to five years' imprisonment. Carter is now at Governor's Island, awaiting the result of these proceedings. The solicitor general asked that a mandate be issued immediately in the case, but action was postponed.

THE AGRICULTURAL BILL.

As Reported to Senate by Committee It Carries a Total Appropriation of $3,959,120, an Increase.

Washington, April 25.—The senate committee on agricultural has reported the agricultural appropriation bill to the senate. The bill carries a total appropriation of $3,959,120, which is a net increase of only $23,320. The senate really added items amounting to $83,320, but by diminishing the house appropriation for the purchase of seed to the extent of $40,000 and that for agricultural department publications to the extent of $20,000, the net increase was reduced. The principal items of increase are $40,000 for forestry investigations and $15,000 for irrigation investigations.

Among the amendments are the following: To continue the investigation of the soils of the United States.

To increase the salary of the chief of weather bureau to $5,000 per annum.
